OVERVIEW

CareerJoy's Aspiring Leaders Program stands out as a specialized offering tailored for junior leaders and emerging talents within the Public Service. This program diverges from traditional development by focusing on the whole person, underpinning the foundational principle that in order to successfully lead teams and departments you must first successfully lead yourself.

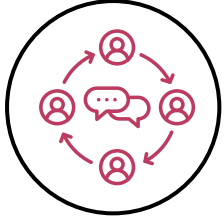

This Aspiring Leaders Program uses our [LQ] Leadership Intelligence Framework to equip participants with essential leadership tools and strategies to transform emerging leaders into confident, skilled professionals ready to advance their careers and contribute significantly to their department's success.

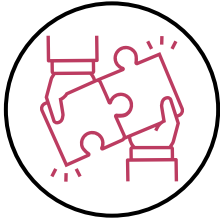

KEY TAKEAWAYS

Use the [LQ] Leadership Intelligence Framework to identify the skills and competencies of successful leaders in the Public Service.

Analyze the fundamentals of communication and how your communication impacts professional relationships and interactions.

Explore your Managerial Style and understand its impact on colleagues and teams.

Discover strategies to improve employee engagement using the Cycle of Excellence and practice delivering feedback in a supportive way.

Develop a plan to navigate and advance your career in the Public Service.

[LQ] Leadership Intelligence is a framework developed by our team at CareerJoy in collaboration with numerous clients and subject matter experts that supports a leader's vertical development.

There are four key principles that work together to support the leadership of self, leadership of teams, and leadership of an organization – commitment, character, competency and culture.

OUR COACHES + FACILITATORS

Our facilitators are also coaches, and they bring that experience into each workshop.

Our facilitators engage and encourage participants to apply their experience and knowledge to the subject matter and to be active contributors to the conversation and the learning. Our facilitators ask thought-provoking questions, use dynamic activities and lead participants through the content, making it relevant to their experience and role.

At CareerJoy we have a diverse roster of coaches and facilitators, including subject matter experts and former public servants with substantial experience working at various levels in the public service, including;

- Manager
- EX-01, Director
- EX-03, Director General

Many of these facilitators also hold a security clearance ranging from Entrance to Reliability, up to Top Secret.
